WELCOME!

Adventist Health and the Roseville Healthy City Coalition are proud to sponsor Roseville's 2009-2010 Holiday Community Needs booklet to assist in your charitable giving for the 2009 Holiday Season. Inside you will find the holiday needs of numerous nonprofit agencies that serve people in the Roseville area. We hope you find the booklet a helpful resource, not only during the holidays, but also throughout the year.

Roseville Healthy City Coalition's Vision:
The future of Roseville will rest on an uncompromising commitment to enhancing the quality of life and health of our community. Health is the state of well being. It is created by the balance of body, mind, and spirit, not merely the diagnosis and treatment of disease.

Good health embodies an exchange of rights and responsibilities between individuals and their community. Consequently, an informed, motivated, and actively participating community is vital to achieving our goal of a healthy Roseville. Ultimately, each person is responsible for their own health habits, as well as for promoting the health of others.

We, the people of Roseville, inspired by our vision of health, pledge ourselves to implement a wide range of economic, social, and environmental actions. These actions will be directed at strengthening individuals, families, and neighborhoods.

Adventist Health's Mission Statement:
To share God's love by providing physical, mental and spiritual healing.

Adventist Health's Vision:
Adventist Health will be a recognized leader in mission focus, quality care and fiscal strength.

Adventist Health's Values:
At Adventist Health we value:

- The compassionate, healing ministry of Jesus
- Human dignity and individuality
- Absolute integrity in all relationships and dealings
- Excellence in clinical and service quality
- Responsible resource management in serving our communities
- The health care heritage of the Seventh-day Adventist Church
- Each other as members of a caring family
