RESIDENTIAL WATER EFFICIENCY PROGRAMS

Rainfall and snowpack in the Sierra Nevada Mountains are below average stressing water supply conditions. Folsom Lake, Roseville's primary water supply source, has seen record low levels and we do not see it getting better soon. Because of that, we all need to do our part to conserve water. We are here to help.

ROSEVILLE GREENER GARDENS TOUR AND DIY EXPO

The 2014 Greener Gardens Tour and DIY Expo takes place 10 am - 2 pm, Saturday, May 17 at the Roseville Utility Exploration Center. The self-guided Greener Gardens Tour features ten local homes that showcase water-efficient gardens from Roseville's popular Cash for Grass Program. The Greener Gardens Tour is $5 per family. Call 916-746-1550 to register in advance.

The Do-It-Yourself (DIY) Expo features River-Friendly Landscaping Green Gardener professionals, University of California Master Gardeners and other industry experts. Other displays include UC Davis Arboretum All-Star plants, the Greener Gardens Photo Gallery and composting and sheet mulching demonstrations. The DIY Expo is free for everyone to attend.

WATER WASTE

Help us stop water waste. Report irrigation problems online at: Roseville.ca.us/waterwaste or call 774-5761. Reporting is easy and anonymous.

GREEN GARDENING WORKSHOPS

Join us at Roseville's Utility Exploration Center for monthly gardening workshops that follow key seasonal tasks to help keep your garden healthy, beautiful and water-wise. Scheduled on the second Saturday of the month, our gardening workshops consist of two separate 2-hour courses between 8:30 am and 1 pm. All workshops are taught by regional gardening experts knowledgeable in composting, garden design, plant health and water efficiency. Choose one or two classes each month and receive a discount based on the number of classes you attend.

Visit Roseville.ca.us/explore for more information on the workshops scheduled.
