New California Law on Fraudulent Account Information for Identity Theft Victims

Attention Credit Grantor or Utility:

As of January 2002, California law requires credit grantors and utilities to give identity theft victims copies of documents associated with accounts fraudulently opened or applied for in the victim's identity, including a copy of the application and a record of the charges associated with the account. You may require the victim to provide you with a copy of a police report of identity theft and the victim's identifying information for the categories of information the unauthorized person used to complete the application or open the account. In most cases, the account information must be provided free of charge within ten business days of your receipt of the police report and the victim's identifying information. The victim is generally permitted to authorize your release of the account information to a specified law enforcement officer. You may ask the victim to sign a release before providing the information to police. A copy of the relevant code sections is enclosed for your information. I appreciate your cooperation. I have attached a request form for documents associated with the fraudulent account.
